PHANTASIES OF HOPE.

Three little babelets,
Buckets in their hands,
Set to work a-building
Castles on the sands,
One she had golden hair,
One she had brown,
One had the blackest head
Ever seen in town.
Poor little babelets,
Waking up next day,
Find by the jealous sea
All is swept away.

Twenty years after,
Maidens debonair,
Set to work a-building
Castles in the air.
One held a laurel wreath,
One held a man,
One held a stony heart
A-fluttering a fan.
Poor little maidens,
Waking up to-day,
Find by old Father Time,
All is mown away.

—Judge.

The War is over,
Vacation is over,
And now for business.
You can get that most surely by advertising in THE LEDGER.

CODY IS HERE.

And Also Are a Great Many People—And More Coming In.

This is Buffalo Bill Day in Maysville, and an immense crowd is in town to greet the noted scout and his famed Congress of Rough Riders.

Three special trains brought them in over the C. and O., and it may be stated positively that the exhibition is here in its entirety.

As THE LEDGER goes to press the hour for the parade approaches and the streets have been taken on a gala appearance.

Cody will be in the saddle at both performances and will personally direct every feature of his great show.

If the crowds in town are any criterion the attendance at both performances should be very large, and deservedly so.

Nothing is too good or superlative to say of Colonel Cody and his great show, and THE LEDGER does not hesitate to advise all to attend one or other of the performances.
